HOW CHRISTMAS PASSED

A Season of Good Cheer and Enjoyment in Salem.

Mild Weather and Universal Observation of the Pleasantest Holiday of the day.

To say that Christmas passed off pleasantly in Salem this year does not begin to express it. Perhaps the fact that "two Sundays came together" has had something to do with it; but it has really seemed "more like Christmas" this year than usual.

The weather clerk has treated us white this time and the man who would kick at the weather furnished for Christmas would kick if he were going to be hung.

Saturday evening the sidewalks were almost impassable from the throngs of people who were taking advantage of the mild and balmy evening, and the stores were crowded until a late hour with belated shoppers who were filling out their list of presents.

Innumerable private trees were set up and loaded with presents and the camera fiends were in their glory.

The special services at the churches on Sunday were well attended and the elaborate musical programs were splendidly rendered and fully appreciated.

The business streets of the town presented a very quiet and Sabbath like appearance, both Sunday and Monday. In fact the sight of a wagon load of lumber passing along Commercial street Monday afternoon gave a distinct shock, as though it were some sort of sacrilege.

But from 1 to 2 p. m., the hour during which the postoffice was open, both Sunday and Monday, that paternalistic institution was the scene of considerable life. It seemed that every one expected a Christmas present by mail and was there to get it.

The carriers' door was besieged by a good-natured, but determined crowd, and the girl who didn't like to be squeezed had no business there. The pressure was so heavy that it became impracticable for people to get back after they were waited on, so the accommodating carriers, as soon as they filled a man's arms with bundles, would take him by the collar and shoot him through their department and out the back door into the alley.

The wind-up with Christmas trees and programs at the different churches, gave the appropriate finishing touches to a Christmas, which, in spite of some drawbacks, has been more than usually enjoyable.

CHRISTMAS FOOTBALL

The Portland Team Too Many for the Salem Aggregation.

The football game at Portland, on Christmas day, between the team of the Multnomah Athletic Club and the Salem Eleven resulted in a score of 11 to 0 in favor of the former.

This indicates excellent work on the part of the Salem aggregation, the more remarkable from the fact that some of the players never played in a game before this season, while others are busy young men, who have little time to spare away from their work.

While the Salem team did not score in either half of the game it kept the opposition down to 6 in the first half and 5 in the second.

There were many spectators and much noise and enthusiasm prevailed. The weather and the condition of the field were both excellent.

The casualties were not serious. Murray, of Salem, sprained a limb, and Kerrigan, of Multnomah, had a nose broken, but these are small matters in this ideal Christmas game.

The line-up was as follows.

M. A. A. C. center. Jarvis

Volhardt. r. g. Judd

McKinnon (cap.). l. g. Williams

Pratt. r. f. Murray

Russ. l. f. (capt.) Young

Montague. r. e. Sanders

Barrett. l. e. Bonhan

Kerrigan. r. h. b. Bruce

McMillan. l. h. b. Bishop

Meyers. l. b. Lucas

McDonnell. l. b. Terrell

Referee—Art Downes.

Umpire—B. W. Farnham.

Linesmen—Frank Randall and Willie McLeod.

Timekeepers—H. H. Rasch and Frank Randall.

The boys all had a good time and occupied boxes at the Marquam Grand in the evening.

Aground Again.

The steamer Eugene seems to be followed by a hoodo, but the malign influence is not sufficiently strong to send her skyward or permanently to the bottom. She now rests on an even keel on the island opposite the O. R. & N. dock, where she found bottom Sunday night. All efforts to get her off have proved unavailing. The Altona took a pull at her, but without result, and as the river is falling rapidly she is likely to soon be high and dry.

TACKLE THE PROBLEM.

Pilgrim Brotherhood Will Inquire Why Men Do Not Attend Church.

The meeting of the Pilgrim Brotherhood tonight at the Congregational church will be devoted to the discussion of the question: "Why do Men not Attend Church?"

This problem will be inquired into with a view to getting some true light on the subject, and some of the men who do not attend church are expected to tell why.

The meeting is open and any one who is interested in present day problems is invited to attend.

A POLITICAL SENSATION.

The City Council is Accused of Depriving the Muser Family of Their Christmas.

A sensational report appeared in a Sunday morning paper to the effect that the Muser family, are in destitute circumstances. If this were the fact there would be no objection to making it public, but the animus of the article in question was plainly to bring an indictment against the city government. The council was charged with turning the Muser home into a pest house, defacing the property, destroying the contents and refusing to pay Mrs. Battersby for her services.

The facts are these: The first case of small pox, which has proved so expensive to the city, was Mrs. Battersby, and of nine cases in the city seven were in this family. Without the assistance given by the city their case would have been desperate indeed.

The city paid out for medical attendance, nursing, groceries, clothing, bedding, quarantining etc., for this family over $600.

Now the family have bills against the city aggregating about $110 for nursing, etc. These have been presented to the council and are not held up, but are passing through the regular routine of reference to the committee, and when found correct will be paid.

As to the alleged acute destitution of the family it is worthy of note that one member, is regularly employed driving a delivery wagon; and a minor child is heir to a pension.

If they have been minus Christmas cheer, it is to be regretted, but an appeal for help would be more readily responded to were it not put in the shape of a political howl.

On Velvet.

Old Bill Anderson comes out in dazling style since Santa Claus filled his stocking. He wears d shiny black plug hat, and flashes with diamonds including a watch chain, a ring and a solid diamond shirt stud nearly as large as the hat. He had a few of his friends down to dinner today and if any one doubts the statement that he treated them to venison, ask Cliff Mellen.
